INTERNSHIPS

- In the first semester of law school, I interned at an NGO in Patna named 'SARTHI', where I got the opportunity to understand the Juvenile Justice system and procedures undertaken by the Child Welfare Committee & Juvenile Justice Board. I also got to review cases of children/records. I was given exposure to the practical application of legal knowledge in consultation with the Chairperson and members of CWC, JJB members, Home Authority and the Superintendent of Govt. Children/Observation Home, Patna. I spent quality time with the children of Apna Ghar (Govt. Children Home) and children at Umang Bal Vikas Hostel, Patna, where I observed and interacted with the children in rehabilitation and tried to guide them towards their future and career.
- In the second semester, I got an opportunity to intern under Adv. Debasis Guin in Kolkata dealing with various matters in Civil, Criminal, and Arbitration in Calcutta High Court. I dealt with research works to form arguments for different cases with several acts and provisions under his guidance and supervision. I read various acts like the Transfer of Property Act, Stamp Act, Registration Act, etc. to form the arguments and wrote an article on the Street Vending Act. I got the chance to visit Calcutta High Court, which is the oldest court in India and witness the civil proceedings. I believe that through this internship, I got better at interpreting acts and statues and building my arguments.

PERSONAL DETAILS

I was born and brought up in Bokaro, Jharkhand. I completed my schooling at Delhi Public School, Bokaro, with Commerce, and currently, I'm a second-year student pursuing BBA LLB at Symbiosis Law School, Hyderabad. I believe I'm an observant, practical, yet creative person who is always open to learning and experiencing new things that add value to my life. I tend to make the most out of the opportunities I'm provided with. My father has been a law student himself, and walking in his footsteps, I'm looking forward to becoming an esteemed Lawyer and serving my duty with loyalty and perseverance with the knowledge I acquire within my course of education and overall experiences. There were many reasons to choose law, as I believe law is a dynamic field not confined to a particular subject. Having to study law gets us to know about every topic going on around the world. Also, having to know about the constitution, laws and rights of oneself and the people we are surrounded with makes us confident being in society. It would also help me serve my social duty well.
