

Summary

I am a fifth-year law student at Xavier Law School with a consistent track record of academic excellence and practical legal experience. I have completed internships at district courts, high courts, and private companies, gaining skills in legal research, drafting, and client counseling. My academic pursuits are complemented by certifications in international law and intellectual property. I actively participate in extracurricular activities, including moot courts and mediation competitions, and hold leadership roles in various university societies. My diverse experiences have equipped me with a strong foundation in Corporate-Commercial law, IPR, International law and Legal Documentation.
